

WILL YOUR TEAM SURVIVE?

You and three friends just survived a plane crash of a private small plane. Both the pilot and co-pilot were killed in the crash. It's the middle of winter and you are in Alaska, where the temperature is below zero during the entire winter season. There is snow everywhere, and there are streams all over the area. As far as you can tell, there are no towns anywhere near. You and your friends are dressed in business suits, because you were on your way to plug your idea for a new music album to the CEO of a bigtime record label company. Your friends are in your band, and this was going to be your breakthrough meeting. These are the items you could find that were not damaged during the crash:

You may only choose 5 of the below items for your survival:

A ball of steel wool

A small ax

A loaded .45-caliber pistol

A can of shortening

Four newspapers

A cigarette lighter that's out of fluid

One change of clothes for each of you

20x20 foot piece of heavy-duty canvas

An air map made of plastic

One quart of 100-proof whiskey

A compass

Four family-sized chocolate bars

Your group needs to list these items in order of importance for your survival, and write what you would use them for. All your group members MUST come to an agreement on this.

Write how you used each of your group members' work styles and different ways of being geniuses.